

CONSTRUCTION INDUSTRY WHITE CARD TRAINING

Date: Thursday 22nd July

Time: 9.45am for a 10am start

Location: 151 Hutt St Adelaide (YouthJET Office)

Recommended For:

- Those who carry out construction work (including labourers and trades persons)
- Those looking for employment in the construction industry

Overview:

General induction training aims to provide persons new to the construction industry with a basic knowledge of OHS legislative requirements, principles of risk management and the prevention of injury and illness in the construction industry.

The Construction Industry White Card training will provide participants with:

- A basic knowledge of requirements under OHS laws
- An explanation of the common hazards and risks likely to be encountered on construction sites
- Strategies for how these risks should be controlled.
- The standard of behaviour expected of workers on construction sites.

This training is nationally recognised, allowing White Card holders to work across Australia.
